EMERGENCY MOTION
FOR SHORT EXTENSION OF TIME TO OBJECT
TO REPORT & RECOMMENDATION; & STRIKE ORDER

Now comes Plaintiff pro se and states that the time has not passed to file objections to contemporaneous two documents, to wit: Report and Recommendation ("R&R") (Doc.138) and Order Granting in Part and Denying in Part Defendants' Motions to Strike (Doc. 137) and moves for order granting short extension of the time to file the objections on or before 05/12/06.

Emergency situation occurred, in which Plaintiff inadvertently lost the electronic storage of his prepared objections to Doc.137 and 138 to be printed out today. All effort to retrieve them failed consequently plaintiff will have to start all over again and needs enlarged time to do so.

Rule 6(b) of Federal Rules of Civil procedure provides for enlargement of time

Respectfully submitted,

Darlington Amadasu
Plaintiff Pro se
